Aristotle: Cannot Create Apple IIGS Start-Up Screen

This article last reviewed: 22 December 1988

Tech Comm has received inquiries about creating start-up screens for the Apple IIGS when using the Aristotle Menu Display program (similar to those that can be created on the Macintosh). Unfortunately, no methods are currently available for doing this. Keep in mind that Aristotle does not display graphics. When running under Apple II network software, the Apple IIGS remains in text-only mode.
