AppleShare: Requires Dedicated Server

TOPIC -----

If I had enough RAM, would it be possible to run AppleShare file and print servers on my Macintosh in the background under MultiFinder? I know that the instructions state that I need a dedicated machine, but I only need to use a few other programs.

DISCUSSION -----

Unfortunately, there is no way to make either the AppleShare File Server or Print Server run in the background under MultiFinder. The "administrative" portions of these systems can run concurrently under the server software, but that is not the same as running in the background. The actual code that drives the server software actually modifies the operation of the System to such an extent that most applications would be incompatible with it.
