ADSP Development Kit Available From APDA

This article last reviewed: 6 April 1989

ADSP is the AppleTalk Data Stream Protocol. The ADSP Development Kit, v1.0, is now available from APDA. It is for programmers who

- want to open, read from, write to, or close ADSP data streams, or
- need to know about ADSPOpen, ADSPRead, ADSPWrite, and ADSPClose calls available to Macintosh programmers

This product is described in the Winter 1989 APDalog on page C-44. It was also listed in the previous APDalog, but was difficult to find and was not necessarily available then.
