PROFS: Limits on Cut and Paste

This article last reviewed: 7 January 1988

The message editor on PROFS accepts only two lines of text. Any additional text is automatically looped back to the top line of the screen. PROFS' Note editor allows up to 16 lines of text before looping to the top of the screen after the 16th carriage return.

The PROFS help message states that to type into further screens, an F10 (next page) or F4 (add line) key is required. This seems to mean that the user can paste only 16 lines of text at a time, followed by a next-page or add-line function key before continuing. There is a possible fix that includes modifying a font to show the character represented by a command-[. That character followed by a 0, if pasted every 16 lines, would do a next-page PF10.
