TOPIC -----------------------------------------------------------

This article describes three Shiva on-line information services.

DISCUSSION ------------------------------------------------------

Shiva has its own folders on AppleLink and on America Online:

- The AppleLink folder is in the Third Party Connections area.

- On America Online, the folder is in the Industry Connection section under Computing and Software (or simply use Command-K, then enter keyword "Shiva").

Shiva has also brought its own Bulletin Board Service on line, and added eight more phone lines for a total of ten.  A new phone number provides support for 9600 v.32 and 2400 (8,N,1).

Each of these services provides a method for examining press releases, product information, pricing, and technical notes.  Each has a software library that contains the latest released software from Shiva.  The services include a Shiva-specific forum that you can use for technical discussions, electronic customer support, and general suggestions.
