Metric Tools: Phillips Heads

This article last reviewed: 27 December 1989

Eiki, a major manufacturer of school projectors is an excellent source for metric tools and screws, including Phillips heads. Most Apple equipment manufactured overseas (like the LaserWriter II engine) uses metric screws. The standard American Phillips drivers tend to strip out the heads of metric Phillips screws.

Eiki has a neat little tool kit that includes a #1 and #2 Metric Phillips for a suggested retail price of $13.00. The part number is AC-85311

They have a dealer distribution network and you can find the nearest Eiki dealer by calling (714) 831-2511
