Tech Info Library

Color Classic: After Removing Logic Board, Reset Clock (2/93)

Article Created: 9 February 1993

```
TOPIC -----------------------------------------------------------

Why does my Color Classic ask me to reset the clock after I've removed -- and replaced -- the main logic board?

DISCUSSION ------------------------------------------------------

The system clock is part of the main logic board.  When the logic board is removed, it's disconnected from all power, which resets the system clock.

The main system ASIC (custom integrated circuit) keeps track of whether the logic board has been disconnected, and when it's reconnected system software is reminded to ask you to reset the clock to the appropriate time.
Copyright 1993, Apple Computer, Inc.

Keywords:  <None>

=================================================================
```

This information is from the Apple Technical Information Library.

19960215 11:05:19.00

Tech Info Library Article Number: 11436