DOS Compatibility Card: Black & White Video In DOS Mode (5/94)

Article Created: 24 May 1994

TOPIC -----

On the Quadra 610 DOS Compatible and the DOS Compatibility Card, isolated cases have been reported where the DOS screen will display in Black and White instead of Color.

DISCUSSION -----

Some applications may not properly sense the type of monitor and video mode being used. Many applications have a command line switch that will force a particular video mode to be used.

For applications having this problem, check the program documentation or with the program vendor to see if a video switch is available to correct this problem.
