Performa 600: Explanation of Included Disks

Article Created: 4 December 1992

TOPIC -----

Do any floppy disks come with the Performa 600? (I heard that Apple doesn't supply any System disks with this computer.)

DISCUSSION -----

Because System software is installed on the hard drive, no System disks are included in the box. You can purchase the System 7 disk set separately if you wish.

The Performa 600 does come with a Performa Utilities disk, which contains a backup and restore program to restore your system software in the event of a system crash or corruption.

Among the first things you should do when you get your system:

- 1) Purchase some blank high-density disks.
- 2) Use the backup software to back up your Performa 600's hard disk to floppies. This way, you will be able to restore your System software if you have a crash.
