Performa with Backup CD: Where is Apple Backup? (8/95)

Article Created: 10 August 1995

TOPIC ---

I cannot find Apple Backup on my new Performa computer. Was I supposed to receive it?

DISCUSSION --

Since a backup of all the software that came pre-loaded on your Performa is provided on the Macintosh Performa CD-ROM disc, and making floppy disk backups would require over 100 floppy disks, Apple Backup has been removed from the Summer 1995 release of Macintosh Performa models. This includes the Performa 631, Performa 640 DOS Compatible, 5200 series, and 6200 series computers.

If you need to back up individual files, you can drag-copy the files to floppy disks.

If you need to restore applications or your system software, you can do so from your Macintosh Performa CD, following the instructions in your Macintosh Performa User's Guide. You can also use the search string "performa adj backup" to locate the TIL article: "Performa: Backing Up and Restoring" for additional tips.
