Macintosh: Third-Party Hard Disk Partitioning

This article last reviewed: 15 July 1990

TOPIC -----

Can I create 10 or more partitions on a third-party 600MB hard drive and have them all available on the Macintosh desktop at the same time?

DISCUSSION -----

Since you have a third-party drive, you'll need to use a third-party hard disk utility. This utility should be provided by the manufacturer of the drive. If not, a program called SilverLining from La Cie works well.
