HyperTalk: Adding Comments to Scripts (7/92)

Article Created: 16 November 1990
Article Reviewed/Updated: 23 July 1992

TOPIC ---

In HyperTalk scripts, a string of two hyphens (--) indicate a comment.
HyperTalk ignores all characters that follow the double-hyphen.

DISCUSSION --

In the following example, the strings "Displays a dialog box" and "the user's reply" are ignored by HyperTalk.

```
on mouseUp
   -- Displays a dialog box
   answer "What?" with "No" or "Yes"
   put it -- the user's reply end mouseUp

Shortcuts

• To comment several lines at once, drag to select the lines you want to comment, then choose Comment from the Script menu (or press Command-hyphen).

• To uncomment several lines at once, drag to select the lines you want to uncomment and then choose Uncomment from the Script menu (or press Command-=).
