HyperCard: Apple Videodisc Drivers (4/94)

Article Created: 20 April 1994

TOPIC -----

I have been told that there is a videodisc driver that is made by Apple that I can use with the NEW HyperCard 2.2. Where do I get it? I have both Sony and Pioneer players -- does it give you a choice of laserdisc players?

DISCUSSION -----

Neither Apple Computer nor the Apple Programmers and Developers Association carry video disc drivers any longer. However, third party developers such as the Voyager Company in New York and Objectic Systems in Renton Washington carry videodisc drivers compatible with HyperCard 2.2 and work with a variety of laserdisc players. Search on the company names for address and phone information.
