

Tech Info Library

Indian Language Kit: Gujarati QWERTY Keyboard Change (2/97)

Article Created: 14 February 1997

TOPIC -----

I am trying to type a Viraam character using the Indian Language Kit. According to the Indian Language Kit User's Guide, the Viraam should be the default period (full-stop) on the Period key. However, it appears that the period (.) is the default. How can I type a Viraam?

DISCUSSION -----

The Gujarati QWERTY keyboard underwent a minor change after the Indian Language Kit User's Guide was printed so there is an error in the manual. Instead of the Viraam as the default period (full-stop) on the Period key, the period (.) is the default. Viraam can be typed by holding down the Option key and pressing the Period key.

Copyright 1997, Apple Computer, Inc.

Keywords: <None>

=====
This information is from the Apple Technical Information Library.

ArticleID: TECHINFO-0020965

19970214 11:37:46.00

Tech Info Library Article Number: 20965