No One-Keystroke Way to Change Desktop Color

TOPIC -----

What is the key combination to change the desktop color of my Macintosh?

DISCUSSION -----

There is no Apple-provided key combination that changes the color of your Macintosh desktop. If you've seen someone change the desktop color this way, it was most likely with a product that was used to automate the process of using a control panel to change the desktop color. Look for third party macro programs like QuicKeys which may be able to accomplish this for you.
