AppleShare: Date Problems May Be due to Mixed Versions

This article last reviewed: 2 June 1988

If you encounter problems with dates on an AppleShare server -- for example, one user reported seeing, from a workstation, file modification dates that were 40 years off -- be sure your workstations are all running the same version of AppleShare software that the server is running.

The way AppleShare 1.1 sends dates over the network is different from the way version 1.0 did it. Mixing the two versions on one network can result in erroneous dates.
