PlainTalk: Installation and Plaintalk Disk 5 (10/93)

Article Created: 25 October 1993

TOPIC -----

When I try to install the PlainTalk software on my Centris/Quadra 660AV or Quadra 840AV, the Installer asks for either the PlainTalk Disk 5 or the Introduction to Speech disk. Neither of these disks were included with the computer.

How do I install PlainTalk?

DISCUSSION -----

The Installer will ask for the PlainTalk Disk 5 or the Introduction to Speech disk if you try to install PlainTalk from the PlainTalk diskettes.

You must install PlainTalk from the System Software diskettes that came with your AV computer. Do NOT attempt to install PlainTalk from the PlainTalk diskettes.

To install PlainTalk, you must perform a custom System Software install. To do this, follow these steps:

- 1) Boot your Macintosh with the Install Me First diskette.
- 2) Select a custom installation.
- 3) Select PlainTalk only, then click Install. Swap diskettes as directed by the software.

This will install all the necessary PlainTalk files without asking for the nonexistent disks.
