Macintosh Communications Toolbox: Where to Find Information

This article last reviewed: 2 July 1990

TOPIC -----

I am interested in making some tools for the commtoolbox. Where can I find guidelines, sample source, and so on?

DISCUSSION -----

You might consider purchasing the "Macintosh Communications Toolbox," and the "Communications Tools, Basic Connectivity Set" from APDA.

There is also a Macintosh Communications Toolbox folder on the Developer Services board, where you'll find: product information, common questions and answers relating to the Communications Toolbox, tools and sample code, listings of third-party products that support the Communications Toolbox, and ongoing discussions on the Comm Toolbox.
