Macintosh: Altering Default View In The Finder (7/94)

Article Created: 08 July 1994

TOPIC -----

Is there a way that I can have the Macintosh operating system set the folder views for all my folders to "View by Name" without opening each one individually. Also, can "View by Name" be set as the default view?

I am using System 7 and 7.1.

DISCUSSION -----

Sadly, there is no Apple utility to allow you to globally change the views for all folders on the volume to any particular setting. However, you might check if there is such a shareware/freeware utility which might allow you to do it.

There is no way to alter the operating system to have View by Name as the default.
