DISCUSSION -----

Important Information About Printing with a PowerPC PCI-Based Computer on non-Apple Printers

PowerPC-based computers with PCI expansion slots may have difficulty printing to some third party network printers or print spoolers in certain network configurations. When printing to one of these devices, your computer may freeze or never complete printing, and you may need to restart your computer or cancel the printing job.

LaserWriter 8.3.4 addresses this problem.

When it's available, LaserWriter 8, version 8.3.4 can be obtained at:
