Mac OS 7.6: Incorrect Message With Custom Remove (2/97)

Article Created: 3 March 1997

TOPIC ---

When I custom remove software using the Install Mac OS application on the Mac OS
7.6 CD-ROM disc, I receive a message saying the software was installed correctly. Was the software removed?

DISCUSSION --

The software was indeed removed. A bug in the "Install Mac OS" application causes the installed correctly message to appear. If you remove the software using the Mac OS 7.6 Installer (found in the Software Installers folder in the Mac OS 7.6 folder on the Mac OS 7.6 CD-ROM), you will receive the correct message when you custom remove software.

This article was published in the 3 March 1997 "Information Alley."

Keywords: sys76,kalley

===

This information is from the Apple Technical Information Library.

ArticleID: TECHINFO-0021049

19970304 08:21:56.00

Tech Info Library Article Number: 21049