Apple Education Series: Early Versions Require Password (12/95)

Article Created: 22 March 1995

Article Reviewed/Updated: 20 December 1995

TOPIC -----

I cannot seem to reinstall my Apple Early Childhood Connections software without a password. I do not remember the password and it does not seem to be published anywhere. Where can I get it?

DISCUSSION -----

Early versions of Apple Education Series bundles required a password for reinstalling the software from the backup CD-ROM discs.

These bundles include:

- The Apple Early Language Connections bundle
- The Apple Early Childhood Connections bundle
- The Biology Bundle

You can call the Education Support Group at the Apple Assistance Center (800-SOS-APPL). They will provide the password for the time frame during which the bundle was purchased. Due to security reasons, Apple does not publish these passwords.

Beginning in October 1995, the following software bundles were no longer pre-installed on your hard drive and shipped on CD-ROM disc only. Versions of these bundles released after October 1995 can be installed or reinstalled without a password:

- The Apple Early Language Connections bundle
- The Apple Early Childhood Connections bundle
- The Apple Spanish Language Connections bundle

Article Change History:

20 Dec 1995 - Updated support group's official name.

28 Nov 1995 - Updated which bundles require password.
