Tech Info Library

AWS 95: A/UX 3.1 Upgrade CD Availability (9/95)

Article Created: 25 September 1995

TOPIC ---

The Apple Workgroup Server (AWS) 95 Upgrade CD is no longer available at the Apple Order Center. The program expired on September 15, 1995.

What method will be used to get these CD's into customers hands? Although the AWS 95 is no longer available on our price list, we still have quite a number of these customers who expect continued support. CD's need to be kept available both for customers who never got the 3.1 upgrade, and for customers who have either lost or damaged their CD's.

DISCUSSION --

The Program as it currently stands has expired, however, that does not mean customers that require the software will be unable to obtain it.

The Apple Network Information Line will perform the same function as the Order Center did for this upgrade WHILE SUPPLIES LAST.

Once the Apple Network Information Line runs out of inventory, no more CD's will be produced.

The Apple Network Information Line telephone number is 408-862-3385.

Customers may have to leave a message depending on the time of day and how busy the Apple Network Information Line is.

Support Information Services
Copyright 1995, Apple Computer, Inc.

Keywords: ksts

==

This information is from the Apple Technical Information Library.

Tech Info Library Article Number: 18641