TOPIC ------------------------------------------------------------

I have a customer using a Macintosh Plus that restarts while applications are running.  This seems to happen most often when the mouse is moved.

I ran MacTest 7.0 several times, and the Macintosh passed the test each time.

DISCUSSION -------------------------------------------------------

Passing MacTest 7.0 indicates that the problem is not related to the main logic board.  Since the system is restarting, we suggest that you try replacing the power supply.
