TOPIC -----

Where can I get a localized version of System 7 and related fonts for India (Hindi)?

DISCUSSION -----

There's currently no System 7 or 7.1 version localized for Hindi. There's a possibility that localized system software is available in India. However, if it exists, it would be a local third-party company that created and marketed a modification of Apple's Macintosh system software.

As far as acquiring system software, and any international version for that matter, the Developer CD is the only source we're aware of for obtaining the software in the U.S. The only international system software that we currently market and support in the U.S. is KanjiTalk, because Apple Product Marketing saw a high demand for it.
