TOPIC --

How do I get to all 64 fonts available with the Color StyleWriter Pro, and Color StyleWriter 2400? I am only able to find 39 typefaces on the disks, plus the 13 that come as part of the system software. Where are the other typefaces?

DISCUSSION ---

Some of the TrueType fonts do not have their own files and icons. These fonts are generated by the Macintosh system software using other fonts in the same family.

These fonts have designs that allow the system to produce obliqued (italic) versions with good quality typographic results.

Helvetica Black Oblique   Generated by System using Helvetica Black Helvetica Compressed Oblique   Generated by System using Helvetica Compressd
Avant Garde Oblique*   Generated by System using Avant Garde
Avant Garde Bold Oblique*   Generated by System using Avant Garde Bold Helvetica Narrow Oblique*   Generated by System using Helvetica Narrow Helvetica Narrow Bold Oblique*   Generated by System using Helvetica Narrow Bold Lubalin Graph Oblique   Generated by System using Lubalin Graph
Lubalin Graph Bold Oblique   Generated by System using Lubalin Graph Bold

When counting the number of fonts, these "derived" fonts are included in the list as "Oblique w/System" (for example, Italic, and Italic Bold when there is a Bold font). This enumeration is based on the fonts included with System 7.5.

The Tech Info Library article titled "StyleWriter: Included TrueType Fonts" includes detailed information on how additional fonts are created.

Here is how the 64 fonts are accounted for:
