TOPIC -------------------------------------------------------------

The StyleWriter printed output occasionally is missing characters. How do I fix this?

DISCUSSION --------------------------------------------------------

Start up from a floppy and print some directories.  Also use TeachText to print out the Read Me files on the startup disk. If these files print with no problem, check for screen savers or timeout INITs

Screen dimmers that timeout when the machine is processing a job for the StyleWriter can interfere with the print job transmission and processing to create these intermittent lost characters.
